PRAISES FOR BEARS EMULSION

DID MRS. SIMMONS A WORLD OF GOOD.

Cured Her Cold, Restored Her Appetite and Built Up Her Run-down System.

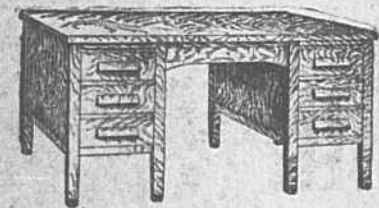

Dr. John D. Bear, Elkton, Va.

Dear Sir, I had been complaining of a cough every winter for four or five years, during which time I lost flesh, had no appetite, felt very weak and run-down. I heard that Mrs. Robert Early praised your Emulsion so for run-down systems and coughs, so I went over to see her one day and after she explained to me how it had benefited her I bought a bottle and began to improve after the first couple of days. On buying the second bottle I decided to weigh before taking it. I found to my great pleasure that I had gained eight pounds while taking the second bottle. I can recommend it to anyone wishing something for a cough and a good tonic.

Yours very truly,
Mrs. J. W. Simmons.
Bear's Emulsion tones up the stomach, builds up the system, gives appetite and gives strength to the body. We ask every run-down, nervous, aged, weak or any one suffering with weak lungs, to try a bottle of Bear's Emulsion and if it does not give us the return empty bottle and get exactly what you paid for it.
For sale by all druggists in Clarksburg and the Johnson Pharmacy, at Shinnston.—Advertisement.

THIRD WEEK

Of the Engagement of the Pearl Stock Company Here is Begun.

The popular Pearl Stock Company will start tonight on its third week at the Victoria theater, and Manager Webster's players are now so firmly established at this cozy playhouse that a very successful season is assured, as season orders are coming in nicely. The attraction tonight will be Hugh M. Durgan's celebrated racing comedy, "Winning a Widow," which is always a splendid success when produced by an adequate company such as is the case here.

"Winning a Widow" is as entertaining as one would judge by the amusing title, yet it is not all laughs, for here and there it makes no uncertain appeal to the heart, as its plot is intensely interesting. The widow in question is young, pretty and moves in the best society. The amusing part of it is that her husband, prior to his death, had been operating a racing stable unknown to everybody, even to herself. All of a sudden she finds the stable left on her hands, which with a capable and faithful trainer she runs successfully. Of course, there is a love affair, and even her lover does not know she owns a stable and consequently buys a thoroughbred to run against that of his sweetheart, which causes some very amusing situations. The play will be staged with special scenery and will afford the entire company, including two new members, excellent opportunities.

that Reynolds "discharged" him because in the latter's opinion McWhorter was reading a copy of the Daily Telegram Sunday morning in the fire department. It happened, Mr. McWhorter says, that he was reading a copy of Sunday morning's Exponent. Reynolds jerked the newspaper from McWhorter's hand, he says, went into an adjoining room and brought out five copies of the Exponent, one of which he gave to McWhorter, saying, "There, if you are so keen about reading the mayor's stuff, digest that." Later on, after Reynolds had ordered McWhorter to perform several duties around the department, one or two of which belonged to other members, Reynolds discharged McWhorter, pending action of the councilmanic fire committee.

McWhorter, however, questions Reynolds's authority to discharge him and is continuing to report for duty as fireman, although Reynolds told him not to go to a fire nor to get on the fire wagons.

McDonald has been off duty for two days on account of illness. He reported his inability to work to Fire Chief Thomas F. Gill. Mr. McDonald says he does not know why Reynolds suspended him, but thinks it is because his illness was reported to the chief instead of to Reynolds, as he has been told such was the case.

MEETING POSTPONED.

Owing to the fact that the Marcato Music Club has the First Baptist church engaged for Thursday evening, the meeting announced to be held there by exclusive gymnasium promoters that night has been postponed until Tuesday night, January 21, when it will be held in that church.
